

Daniel Walsh

MBA

MANAGING DIRECTOR

248.244.3206

dwalsh@doeren.com

Daniel brings over 25 years of experience in middle market transactions helping businesses deploy growth and exit strategies through an array of investment banking services.

Throughout his career, Daniel has participated in many capital market transactions for companies of all sizes. His transactional experience spans a diverse sector of industries including manufacturing, distribution, metals, construction, technology, transportation and chemicals. Today, he focuses on serving closely held enterprises and their owners to maximize transactional outcomes. He provides guidance on exit strategies, company growth, mergers and acquisitions, capital raising and other significant strategic events.

Serving as Chairman of Kinsale Company, a private-based holding company of industrial manufacturing and distribution companies, Daniel brings a unique perspective to his client engagements.

A well-seasoned advisor, Daniel applies his transactional experience and business acumen to navigate clients through complex transactions with valuable insights to make sound business decisions.

Education

University of Notre Dame

- M.S., Finance

Xavier University

- MBA

Education

- FINRA Series 63, 79 & SIE®
Licensed

Industry Specializations

Chemicals

Construction & Real Estate

Distribution

Manufacturing

Metals

Technology

Transportation

These transactions can be difficult and emotional for clients. I really enjoy taking away that burden and advocating on their behalf to a favorable outcome. It is quite rewarding.